

Private Wealth Services

Audit / Tax / Advisory

Smart decisions. Lasting value.

The private wealth services group at Crowe Singapore addresses the compliance & advisory needs of high net worth individuals and families, as well as the private businesses they own, manage or control.

The Asia Pacific region has over the years seen a significant rise in ultra-high net worth individuals and families and this trend is expected to continue. These individuals and families are increasingly concerned about protecting their wealth as disruptions, be it in the global economy, politics, tax systems and technology, are becoming the norm. Growing their wealth amidst market volatility, asset protection and succession planning are some of the other concerns. In addition, there is a growing desire to share part of their wealth to benefit broader society.

Therefore, there has been a steady increase in family offices. Establishment of a family office would allow for the professional administration of wealth management and distribution activities, and also meet other objectives such as developing a long term vision, formalizing intergenerational transfers and preserving family harmony.

In the Asia Pacific region, Singapore is often preferred by ultra-high net worth individuals and families as a jurisdiction to manage their wealth due to one or more of the following reasons:

- i. Globalized economy and its connectivity to global markets
- ii. Competent and large pool of talents of asset managers, private bankers and finance professionals
- iii. Established wealth management and private banking centre
- iv. High level of transparency and standards of governance and regulations
- v. Robust legal and judicial framework

In addition to the above, Singapore's tax rates for corporations and individuals are competitive and its tax regime offers certain advantages such as tax incentives to exempt investments returns and gains for funds managed out of Singapore and access to benefits under the more than 80 tax treaties that Singapore has signed.

We take a team approach, working together with our clients to meet their objectives.

We have a team of cross functional professionals, ranging from business advisors, tax professionals, corporate finance professionals, valuers, internal auditors, company secretaries and accountants, to help ultra-high net worth individuals and families to use Singapore as a base to manage their wealth and assets.

As a member of Crowe Global with 200 offices in 130 countries, the team at Crowe Singapore has access to specialists in other jurisdictions to effectively address and coordinate its clients' challenges overseas and formulate solutions for cross border transactions.
